

Our Visa-commissioned research among large firms in Asia Pacific markets has revealed that...

The value of card acceptance can outweigh the costs.*

475 bps

Benefit

198 bps

Cost

VISA

* Research was commissioned by Visa and conducted by KoreFusion among 1,000 large AP merchants between August and October 2024. The reported benefits are based on data from surveyed merchants at a specific point in time. The study did not collect information on the time required to realize these benefits. Results may vary for individual merchants.

The three most valuable benefits of B2B card acceptance discovered by our research in Asia Pacific markets:

Increased sales

Reduced bad debt

Lower third-party financing costs

VISA

Benefit 1

Increased sales

50%

of card-accepting merchants reported an increase in sales due to card acceptance. Almost all carded sales (93%) were net new sales among merchants reporting sales benefits from acceptance*

VISA

* Research was commissioned by Visa and conducted by KoreFusion among 1,000 large AP merchants between August and October 2024. The reported benefits are based on data from surveyed merchants at a specific point in time. The study did not collect information on the time required to realize these benefits. Results may vary for individual merchants.

Benefit 2

Reduced bad debt

49%

of card-accepting suppliers reported a decrease in bad debts or write-offs due to adopting card payments. Those who experienced benefits noted an average improvement of 216 basis points*

VISA

* Research was commissioned by Visa and conducted by KoreFusion among 1,000 large AP merchants between August and October 2024. The reported benefits are based on data from surveyed merchants at a specific point in time. The study did not collect information on the time required to realize these benefits. Results may vary for individual merchants.

Benefit 3

Lower third-party financing costs

Switching to card sales
could save suppliers

51bps

of total sales value in third-party financing costs by reducing reliance on external funding*

VISA

* Research was commissioned by Visa and conducted by KoreFusion among 1,000 large AP merchants between August and October 2024. The reported benefits are based on data from surveyed merchants at a specific point in time. The study did not collect information on the time required to realize these benefits. Results may vary for individual merchants.

From Transaction to Transformation

Quantifying the Value of B2B Card
Acceptance to Large Asia Pacific Suppliers

June 2025

Click above to read the full report

* Research was commissioned by Visa and conducted by KoreFusion among 1,000 large AP merchants between August and October 2024. The reported benefits are based on data from surveyed merchants at a specific point in time. The study did not collect information on the time required to realize these benefits. Results may vary for individual merchants.

VISA